IMPORTANT FACTS
REGARDING SEALSKINS.

No article of wearing apparel is richer in appearance, and yet less subject to the ravages of fashion, than seal skin. It is therefore not strange that the market should be flooded with garments of this valued material, in inferior quality, and poorly prepared.

As seals are found in various parts of the world, differing in climate from the Mediterranean to the coasts of Greenland, it will be realized how prominent a factor in estimating the quality of a seal skin is the climate in which it was raised. The seal of the home of the seal. Almost equally important is the preparation of the skin. One of the largest and most reliable of the Fur and Cloak houses of the country, have had specially prepared and are now exhibiting the best of their seal premises an Alaska seal skin, which partially illustrates the processes undergone from the dressing of the skin to the fitting of the gray and brown hair that covers the fur, through the gradual shades and gradations of dyeing, until the rich dark brown is reached.

It has been asserted by as high an authority as F. MARTIN, of MARTIN & SON, that seal skin is the most valuable material for preparing a skin ready for making up into a garment, he would be compelled to handle it over for hundred times. The most important of these processes are the dyeing of the seal skin, which has the greatest reputation, not only because of the long experience of those there engaged in the work, but also in a great degree, because of the peculiar quality of the Tannin water, which will for the English metropolis the important position it occupies as the dyeing center for fur, and particularly seal skin.

It is then these two elements of superiority, viz: The use of only the best of Alaska seal skin, and having them dressed and dyed in London, which are offered by M. STERN & SON, the large experience and excellent judgment of Mr. STERN, are sufficient guarantee for the selection of the best of fur, and his annual trips to England to select the best prepared skins, have continued to secure the reputation of M. STERN & SON, a reputation which is not dependent on unimpaired advertising. But to explain the phenomenon of M. STERN & SON's ability to sell these high class goods at the moderate prices for which they offer them, we need only refer to a recent catalogue giving the official figures of the last auction sale held in London on October 31st. These were held in the same manner as the London market prices for the season. The annexed table shows the prices which the various qualities of seal skin brought in 1882 and at the recent sale:

	1882.	1883.
Middling.....	85 Shil.	105 Shil.
Small.....	80	95
Large.....	65	85
Middling Pups.....	45.8	78.8
Small Pups.....	35.6	66.6
Middling Small Pups.....	35.6	66.6

Our readers can see at a glance what a tremendous advance in prices has taken place.

The vast increase in prices may be accounted for by the fact that the Alaska Company has hitherto killed 300,000 seals per annum, but by Act of Congress has been restricted to 120,000. Another factor in the almost entire disappearance of the seal skin, which formerly contributed over 200,000 seals annually, is the fact that the sealers have been driven from the coast of Alaska by the great sealers, and the demand for seal skin has also been sensibly enhanced by the greater size of the garments now worn. Garments formerly made from 24 to 32 inches long are now cut from 40 to 54 inches. All these considerations have conspired to advance the price so materially.

But M. Stern & Son, with the sagacity that is born of experience and observation, foreseeing the inevitable rise in value, have made vast purchases in advance, and are thus enabled to sell their goods at the low prices for which they offer them. To substantiate the above they respectfully invite those interested to call and compare their goods and prices, and not only will they find a large assortment of seal skins, but also the finest of seal plush, made up into coats, dolmans and skirts. Also a great variety of all the fashionable seal skins and circulars, in silk brocade, velvet, etc., as well as a complete assortment of fur hats and fur trimmings of every description.

ADVANCE IN SEALSKINS.
A CARD FROM C. C. SHAYNE.

Notwithstanding the great advance in the price of seal skin in the London market on the 1st inst., I have decided not to advance my prices of goods made up. Having anticipated an advance in the price of genuine Alaska Seal skin, I purchased heavily, and have manufactured an unusual large stock, which I will continue to sell at the same prices named prior to the advance. Prices for strictly first quality London dressed Alaska Seal Skins are as follows:

38 inches long.....	$150
38 inches long.....	$175
40 inches long.....	$200
42 inches long.....	$225
44 inches long.....	$250

These prices refer to regular sizes, 34 to 40 inches neck measure, sizes above 40 inches will cost $10 to $25 extra. I have all sizes in Seal skin, Paisley, Newmarkets and Dolmans 48 to 54 inches long; prices range from $275 to $450, according to length and trimming used. The plain French Paisley, 50 to 54 inches long, $300 to $350, are very popular. I don't manufacture any low priced copper Island or Chinese Seal skin garments; every article is strictly reliable and first-class in every particular. Each garment has the firm name on it, thereby carrying the guarantee of reliability.

DISEASES
OF THE
NERVOUS SYSTEM.

The importance of the nervous system, its power over life and the direct bearing which it has on human happiness, is thoroughly recognized; its uses and the danger of overtaxing it, whether through intense mental application or by the excessive indulgence of the appetites and propensities are proper subjects for consideration. When the nervous system is deranged, it is absolutely necessary to promptly seek advice from an expert who, for a long series of years has devoted his whole time and attention to this study, and who, from his experience and practice, has learned to discover at once the cause and as promptly apply the remedy, thus avoiding the painfully slow seeking for the truth so common to the inexperienced and so annoying to the patient, who, very naturally, wants to know without delay what is the matter, the extent of the derangement, the probabilities of recuperation and the time required.

The brain has become exhausted by intense mental application, depriving it of the power of connected thought, it can only recover its strength by being properly fed and nourished by the use of certain systematic methods. It is precisely the same with the nerves that provide organic life. The value of this branch of medical practice scarcely needs to be stated, for it reaches marriage, the perpetration of family names, the securing of hereditary titles and the retention of estates in the same family.

From a long and large experience in this direction, I have been able to command by my success the thoughtful attention of some of the first families of the city and Nation, and can communicate much that pertains to the over-exercise of every department of the nervous system and the means of recovering its power, whether of brain, appetite, propensity or passion.

This Company is the owner of all the Hallidie and other patents which have been successfully operated on the street railway cable system, and is now prepared to negotiate for rights to use said patents in all cities and towns east of the Rocky Mountains.

The only system which has been successfully worked upon street railways in Chicago and San Francisco. A fund of ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS, amply secured, is pledged to the Company to uphold its exclusive right to the system of street cable railways under the patents owned by it. These patents have been twice bravely sustained in the United States Circuit Court as commanding the cable system by decisions in contested cases, on both the law and equity side of the Court, and the Company and its counsel have an undoubted confidence in their validity.

The Company is now negotiating for the right to use the laws of New-York, confers all the powers and privileges of a Railroad Building Stock Company, by which it is enabled to acquire and equip existing street railways as well as to build new lines, and the exclusive right to grant licenses under these patents.

DRY TETTER.

For years I was afflicted with Dry Tetters of the most obstinate type. I was treated by many of the best physicians; took quantities of mercury, potash and arsenic, which, instead of curing the Tetters, crippled me with universal poison and rheumatism. The Tetters continued to grow worse, and the itching almost made me crazy. In this condition I was induced to take Switt's Specific, and the result was as astonishing as it was gratifying. In a few months the Tetters were entirely well, the Mercantile Poisoning all out of my system, and I was a well man—and due only to Switt's Specific. All like sufferers should take it.
